played have been snapped up.

British Surveys of Cuba's Sugar Ports have been completed, according to the private firm of Sir William Halcrow and Partners in London. The London Daily Telegraph said the modification of the ports would begin in October with Halcrow's sending a team of technicians.